Curtis Publishing Company Sponsors Subscription Drive

The magazine subscription drive planned by the Glenville high school student council, has gone into effect. The subscription drive, a plan to make money for the school, was explained in an assembly Monday, January 22, by Mr. John D. Schaming, a representative of the Curtis Publishing Company.

The plan, as explained by Mr. Schaming, consisted of the appointments of two team captains and six captains to take charge of collecting subscriptions and money from their respective classes. Those chosen as captains from each class were: seventh grade, Wanda Bailey; eighth grade, Barbara Clark; freshman, Louise Meadows; sophomore, Carolyn Wilson; junior, Jack Caverton; and senior, Jim Furr. Wana-ma Davidson and Homer Holloway, team captains, were placed in charge of the fifth and sixth grades.

All the students of Glenville high school, who attended the assembly, were given a folder containing prices of the magazines, order blanks, and hints on how to sell the magazines.

Mr. Schaming told the students the way to approach customers in a way to interest them and sell them a subscription.

The students selling the most subscriptions are to receive prizes varying in value according to the number and kind of magazines sold. For every subscription that is sold the salesman's name will be entered in a drawing for a boy's and girl's wrist watch.

Glenville high school receives 50 percent of the money made from subscriptions of Post, Journal, and Country Gentleman, but receives only 30 percent from all others.

TO VISIT LEGISLATURE

Mrs. Lestelle Murphy, Glenville high school instructor in social studies, says the American history class is planning to attend a meeting of the West Virginia state legislature in the near future, but she says that no definite plans have been made.

"We all want to go, but we don't know for sure whether we are going or not," stated Mrs. Murphy.

HOGUE NEW 4-H PREXY

Donald Hogue, a member of the eighth grade, has been elected president of a newly organized 4-H club in Glenville. Other officers are: Dorothy Hogue, vice-president; Anne Lynne Hickman, secretary-treasurer; Eleanor Bell, song leader; Bobby Wilson, game leader. Mrs. Harlan Hogue is the adult leader. The club, with a membership of about twenty three, meets the second Wednesday of each month at the Town Hall.

SEVENTH PLANS PROGRAM

The seventh grade under the direction of their sponsor, Mr. Garrett, will have charge of the assembly program this month. Other assemblies planned in the student council meeting, January 15 are: February, eighth grade; March, ninth grade; April, Mrs. Currey; and May, twelfth grade. The juniors and sophomore classes have not made any definite plans concerning their assemblies.

March Of Dimes Drive Underway

A March of Dimes drive is being conducted in Glenville and surrounding schools during January under the direction of Mr. C. W. Marsh.

Glenville has contributed $72.38 during the first 18 days of the drive. The first grade has contributed $7.80, second, $10.00; third, $7.25; fourth, $7.00; fifth, $7.25; sixth, $10.20; making a total for the grades of $50.00. In junior high and high school the seventh grade contributed $3.60, eighth $6.02, freshmen $3.25, sophomore $3.40, juniors $2.25; seniors $4.25, making a total for the higher six grades of $22.38.

This drive, which is under the direction of The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, will end at Glenville the last day of January.

Hyer, Greenlief To Visit Legislature On February Fifth

Tom Hyer and Patricia Greenlief were elected January 8 to represent the junior class in "Know your State Government Day" February 5 at Charleston.

Members of the American government class plan to accompany the juniors, says Mrs. Murphy, instructor.

The two juniors will meet state officials and receive briefing on work of the state legislature, attend a luncheon as guests of the West Virginia Education Association, visit the legislature in session to observe the working of that division of the government, and go with other participants on a tour of the capitol building.

The aim of this project, which is under direction of the citizenship committee of the West Virginia Education Association, is to develop good citizens.

'Deep Are The Roots', Presented At P. T. A.

A one-act play, "Deep are the Roots," was the main feature of the Founders' Day program of the PTA, Thursday, February 1, at 8 o'clock in the Glenville high school auditorium, with Mrs. A. H. Moore as program chairman. An introduction of Founders' Day was presented by Mrs.

Glenville Red Terrors In Days Of Old Played In High School Auditorium

By Homer Holloway

The Glenville high school basketball team didn't always play in the Glenville state college gymnasium. Many years ago the high school team which was then called Glenville free school, practiced and played in the Glenville high school auditorium.

The windows of the auditorium were covered with heavy screen wire, and the boundaries were painted on the floor, some of which can still be seen today. According to Mr. Simon Arnold, who at that time played on the Glenville team, the basket on the opposite end of the stage was permanent, and the one on the stage-end of the auditorium was made so that it would swing out of the way when the stage was being used. The only room for spectators was on the stage and a small space along the ends and sides.

"Very few people attended the basketball games at that time," says Mr. Arnold.

A few of those who played on the team were: Fred Lewis Jr., Ed Wolfe, Powell Woodyard, Cecil Reaser, Baily Powell, Truman Barnett, John Baily, Abner Maxwell, and Simon Arnold. Two of their coaches were Wood Crawford and John E. Hays.

This team played other teams such as Jane Lew, Sand Fork, and Burnsville, whose team played in an old skating rink.

In those days, when a team came into a town to play, the boys who played basketball in that town, would each take one of the opposing players home with him and keep him for the night, to save the cost of staying in a hotel. Sometimes this was not the case. On one occasion the Glenville boys went to Burnsville and paid their own expenses at the hotel.

In traveling from one town to another, the boys started from Glenville before daylight, traveling by boat to Gilmer and then the rest of the way by train. They usually arrived after dark and returned the next day after the game was over.

University Offers Scholarships To State Students

Twenty-five University Board of Governors' Scholarships will be awarded in West Virginia to twenty-five graduating seniors who have been outstanding in high school because of one or more of the following: scholastic ability and attainments, qualities of good citizenship, evidence of leadership and moral force, special abilities, such as athletics, speech, art, etc. Seniors interested in receiving one of these scholarships must apply before April 2, 1951 and have a recommendation from Principal Stennett.

The "Eleanor H. Smith Scholarship," given by the West Virginia Society Daughters Of The American Revolution, will be awarded to two girls in West Virginia. The qualifying contestant for this award of $250 must plan to attend a college that grants a degree in home economics, be above average in scholarship, be entering college to become a home economics teacher or home demonstration agent, and be a good citizen. The contestant must write a paragraph on the reason why she chose the college that she wishes to attend and one stating what the fund would mean to her. Further information about these scholarships may be obtained from the principal and the student council.

Members of the Glenville high school junior English class recently got the chance to express their thoughts by writing a ghost story.

Cecil Reaser, a senior in Glenville high school, is a new student of the manual training class for the second semester.

Vikings To Meet Bulldogs In Opener Of Annual Classic

Dr. G. E. Arthur Named Head Of Meet

The Red Terrors will meet Troy high school Thursday night, February 22 at nine o'clock in the second session of the Little Kanawha Valley sectional basketball tournament, according to drawing made January 14 in the board of education office.

Mr. G. E. Arthur, tournament director, has announced the following officials for the event: Howard Baker and Ed Heldman, referees; Joe Hall, timekeeper; Isadore Nachman, scorekeeper; Gilbert Reed, secretary-treasurer.

The admission charge will be $1.00 for adults and $.50 for students. There will be no season tickets sold. A trophy will be awarded the winners by the West Virginia high school athletic association, while the runners up will receive a trophy furnished by the tournament committee. The winner of the consolation game will be presented with the game ball in recognition of third place. The "G" club of Glenville high school will be in charge of publication and sale of programs.

Normantown and Tanner will square off in the first game of tournament on Wednesday night. On Thursday night, the winner of the Normantown-Tanner scrap will oppose Sand Fork, who drew a bye, in the semi-finals, with the Troy Trojans and Glenville meeting in the lower bracket semi-finals at nine o'clock.

The finals will not be played until Saturday because the referees, Heldman and Baker, could not get released from another contract to officiate a game. Swiger and Mc Kenzie were slated to call the tournament, but when it was set back a week it conflicted with other games already booked. For the first time in the last few years, there will be an all-tournament team selected, and individual awards will be presented, say tournament officials.

GRADES OF HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS AVERAGE LOW

Grades of Glenville high school students, who took semester tests, averaged very low in most classes the past semester according to information received from the teachers.

The average grades approximately were: seventh grade, D; eighth, below passing; ninth grade, below passing; tenth grade, D; and twelfth C.

Two teachers refused to give the correct information, but they said the approximate grades in their classes were C.

TEACHERS ATTEND MEET

The students of Glenville high school received a vacation Friday January 26, while the teachers attended a Reading Workshop held at Normantown high school.

Theme for the workshop was: "Finding and Working With the Child on His Instructional Level."

The program was under the direction of Dr. G. E. Arthur and Robert Miller.

RIDE SAFELY

Are you a bicycle owner? If so, are you guilty of riding after dark without lights, riding beside someone else going down main street, riding double, or riding and leaving your bike on the sidewalk?

Bicycles are good things for passing away the time and for doing work such as delivering papers, but they can be very dangerous if used carelessly.

For the protection of your bicycle, refrain from leaving them in places where they will be in the way of cars, because bicycles don't grow on trees, and remember that the driver comes first.

WALK, DON'T STUMBLE.

Walking, running, and talking always require a certain amount of noise, yet they do not create confusion if they are done in a mannerly way.

TAKE THE EIGHTEEN-YEAR-OLDS!

Will the government conscript eighteen-year-olds? Or will they choose to take the veterans, who have had their taste of the "old blood and guts" routine of the last war?

In the first place, top Army officials have stated that the eighteen-year-olds make ideal soldiers because they are not as much set in their ways as older men.

Certainly the eighteen year old would be better. Suppose the veteran was killed, leaving a group of fatherless children to make their own way or develop into a government parasite?

A few years of military service will change many boys (who otherwise would have been tramps and bums) into men with scruples and morals.

TEAM, OR INDIVIDUALS?

"I'm not going to that ball game. Jerry won't get to play." Regardless of who plays or who scores the most points, the Red Terrors should receive your support.

JUST FOOLIN' ROUND

"I'm sorry, but you do not have enough credits to graduate this year. You will have to drop back to the junior class."

This has happened and will probably happen many times again before everyone has graduated from high school. Why do we attend high school anyway?

It is our duty to our country to study our best to make good grades. When we slack on our job we must remember that others fail also.

Leavings From The Editors Desk

Tongues are wagging, the uneven pecking of an ancient typewriter is heard, and Wanema Davidson, slooped in a chair in this overcrowded room, is taxing her brain to slander the unfortunates with malicious gossip which she derives by roaming the hallways and publishes under the pen name of "Gypsy Rose."

Stalking out into the hallway, the cat is on the prowl, but "Gypsy Rose," to her dismay, finds that the grade students who are going through the hall are not engaged in holding hands.

Please girls, take pity upon this poor, sharpened-nose columnist, "Gypsy Rose," who calls herself "Dorothy Dix Davidson," by getting a boy friend.

Pleading earnestly with all females,

The Editor

May "Gypsy Rose" be forgiven for the crime which she will undoubtedly commit after reading this and after consideration, appreciate my contribution of trying to inspire gossip for her writings.

This seventeenth day of January in the year of our Lord 1951, being of sound mind and body, I do bequeath all of my personal belongings to the Satellite staff and the pleasure of doing as they wish with these memorable objects.

Contributions for my funeral expenses will be deeply appreciated. With due expectations, I remain, but not for long,

The Editor.

SPORT SHORTS

By Joe Floyd

As we look at the current junior high situation at Glenville, we wonder what the future will hold for these boys. Having no practice facilities, these youngsters have to compete with other junior highs, who get as much or more practice than the varsity team. These junior high boys of today will make up the varsity of tomorrow. There should be some means of practice provided for these boys. After all, they are being deprived of a part of their training which other boys down through the years have received. Certainly coaches Waldo and Wolfe have done a creditable job with these kids, considering their chance. To top all this off, some of the junior high athletes have got the idea you don't have to pass your subjects to play ball. Just recently three boys were dropped from the squad because of the lack of study. Since the chances they get to improve themselves are slim, it looks as though they should take advantage of all they get, and start cracking a few books.

The movie "South of Karanza" was shown to the grades Wednesday at 10:00 and to the high school students at 2:00. The picture had an African setting. Mr. William Fitzwater, visiting evangelist at the Baptist church, was the guest speaker at the high school assembly January 18. "The annual baccalaureate exercises will be held May 13, and the commencement exercises May 17 in the college auditorium," announced Mr. Stennett. Speakers for the occasions have not been announced.

The F. H. A. chapter of Glenville high school received eight dozen pin cushion bracelets January 15, which will sell for 25c each. They have assorted colors of blue, brown, yellow, red, and green.

only to see the Panthers tie it up and go ahead to stay. Bob Reed fouled out with about six minutes remaining in the contest. Junior Gray led all scorers with 33 points while Reed piled up 14 for the Terrors.

Past Tournaments Show That Red Terrors Have Majority Of Victories

By Joe Floyd

The traditional 18th annual Little Kanawha Valley sectional basketball tournament, which will be held here February 21, 22, and 24, is a classic always jam-packed with thrills and excitement. The affair this year should not fall short of these characteristics since all teams are so evenly matched.

Down through the years there have been many a thrilling game played in this tournament, with the Glenville Red Terrors winning out in the majority of cases. Since 1935 the Terrors have triumphed in eight tournaments, being edged out by the Calhoun Red Devils in '38. In the year following, the Spencer Yellow Jackets downed the Normantown Vikings 40-33 to take "home the bacon." In 1940 the Red Terrors took over and claimed five straight trophies before they were stopped in 1945 by Normantown, who went on to win the state championship.

In this string of five championships the Red Wave, coached by C. D. Wilfong in '40, '41, '42, and by Joe Hall in '43 and '44, won over many strong teams. In 1940 the Red Terrors soundly drubbed Spencer 66-50, and in '41 the Terrors, led by all-stater Jack Conrad, set an all-time tournament scoring record by trouncing the Normantown Vikings 101-47. This star-studded team then went on to win the state crown.

In 1942 Glenville, finding the opposition a little stiffer, eked out a 39-30 win over the Sand Fork Lions. Coming back strong in '43 the "Hallmen" bowled over Normantown 41-40. The last victim of their famed streak was Sand Fork who lost a hard-fought 33-31 battle. In 1945 a great Normantown quint won the crown with a 33-32 victory over Spencer, then went on to capture the state championship, being paced by

In 1946 Glenville again became the victors by defeating Spencer 34-31. The '47 crown was also surrendered to the Terrors as they trounced Troy 56-24. In 1948 the Spencer Yellow Jackets took over in an easy 71-58 victory over Glenville.

In '49, under a new mentor, Woodrow Wolfe, Glenville came out on top with a 66-63 defeat of Tanner. The Red Wave paced by elongated Bob Turner, also captured the regional crown but were defeated in the first round of the state classic.

In 1950 the tourney was highlighted by two major upsets, Tanner downing Glenville to gain the finals only to lose to a mediocre Normantown team. From 1938 through '41 the tourney was held in Spencer, but in '42 the classic was shifted to Glenville where it has remained so far.

In their first meeting, the little Lions from Layopolis ran rough shod over Boon Waldo's little Red Terrors, trouncing them by a 56-9 margin on the Sand Fork floor.

The winners of the Glenville Sand Fork game will tangle with Tanner in the semi-finals on Thursday night at 7:30. The other semi-final game matches Normantown and Tanner at 8:30 on Thursday night. Mayor Hauman Explains City Laws To Members Of High School Class

Bicycle riders in Glenville should take notice of the fact that the Glenville town council has passed several ordinances governing the riding of bicycles in town, according to Mayor Harley Hauman, who explained the town laws to members of the Glenville high school civics class January 17.

The mayor listed the following ordinances now on record: (1) Bicycles must have lights when ridden after dark. (2) Two or more bicycles together must go in single file. (3) Bicycles must not be ridden on sidewalks.

Penalties for violating these laws are as follows: (1) Bicycles may be impounded for a period of time. (2) If the person is 18 years of age or older he may be fined or given a jail sentence.

"Another law that is constantly being violated is the failure of drivers to put money in the parking meters. This violation could cost a driver from $1 to $50," cautioned the Mayor.

Mr. Hauman says that the people of Glenville should celebrate a birthday on February 13, because it was on that date in 1871 the West Virginia legislature passed an act incorporating the town of Glenville, setting up the boundaries and government.

"The act," he stated, "provided for a council of five, as a law-making body; a Mayor, as the executive; and the police to enforce the laws."

He says the town council meets once a month to discuss matters such as street improvements, street lighting, fire protection, sanitation, etc. "Another duty of the town council is to set up a budget," quoted the Mayor.

"$13,500 is the money we can expect to get in this year," he says.

The important sources of income and the yearly amounts they bring in, according to the Mayor, are as follows: licenses for businesses and coin machines, $1200; parking meters, $3,500; fines, from $700 to $1,000; two percent sales tax on liquor, $1600.

"What is left is paid by direct taxation, but we try to keep this as low as possible," says the Mayor.

The yearly expenses, according to Mr. Hauman, include: $1600 paid to the West Virginia Water Company for fire protection; $1300 bill for electric lights; $60 monthly salary for the councilmen; $240 for the Mayor each month; $350 monthly for the police.

$260 was spent this year for snow removal, not including the free work done by the state road commission.

Many students in the civic class asked Mayor Hauman questions concerning speed limits, bicycles laws, roller skating, garbage disposal, fire protection, and the town expenses.

Something definitely is wrong. The grades this semester fell to below average and now we ask. What's wrong? Is it you or do you put all the blame on the teachers? The teachers work hours after we go home to play to make our lessons clearer to us and do we appreciate it? NO. We sit and grip and say that the teachers are no good and they don't care if we pass or not. Let's cut one of those shows and study awhile and see if you don't improve your report card.

The drivers' education class, a semester course, will be continued into the second semester. The reason for this is that each student is required six hours driving time and this quota has not been reached, says Mr. Stennett, instructor.

The class meets daily at 11 o'clock a. m.

Mrs. Leroy B. Stennett has been teaching the sixth grade the past week in the absence of regular teacher William Irwin, who has been absent due to the illness of his father.
