

"Youth Were Criticized For Not Taking Responsibilities," Says Miss Hickman

"I enjoyed my trip to Washington very much," said Anne Lynne Hickman, Glenville high school eighth grader who attended the Youth Conference at the National Guard Armory December 3 through the 7 in Washington, D. C.

Anne Lynne, who was accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Linn B. Hickman, arrived at the capital city Sunday, December 3 and registered at the Hotel Raleigh. On this day she enrolled at the National Guard Armory, then in the afternoon, she, along with her parents, went to the movie, "The West Point Story."

Each day's program was divided into three parts: general session, conference panels and workshop, of which there were twenty-nine different ones.

"I chose 'Use of Leisure Time,'" said Miss Hickman "as the conference in which I was most interested."

Monday she attended a conference on "Recreation of Youth Participation in the Community" directed by Dr. Ott Rommey, dean of School of Physical Education at West Virginia University.

"In one panel discussion, made up of adults and youths, each was given a chance to express his opinion. The youths made the point that young people are not made an integral part of the community life," said Anne Lynne. "The youth were criticized as not taking responsibility. At the end, all delegates and panel members agreed that every community must canvas the possibilities of youth participating in local affairs as soon as they are ready to assume the responsibilities of citizenship."

President Harry S. Truman made a speech to the group on Tuesday when he stressed the following points: The critical struggle to uphold the values of peace, justice and freedom: the source of our struggle; the success of the conference over the years, and the goal of the conference—self-reliant individuals.

"I was thrilled at seeing and hearing the president," said the young girl.

After the speech she had lunch with Cleveland M. Bailey, third district congressman, at the Congressional Restaurant in the House building. That night Anne Lynne went to the Margaret Truman concert at the Constitution Hall.

"It was the first time I had heard

FINAL TEST TAKEN

Glenville high school semester tests were given Thursday and Friday, January 11 and 12.

Tests for the first, third, and fifth periods were Thursday and those for the second, fourth, and sixth periods were given Friday.

All students who had an A average were exempt. Those who had a B average with not more than three absences or five tardy marks were exempt, and those with a C average were not exempt unless they had perfect attendance.

Swiger, McKenzie To Referee Little Kanawha Tourney

Wayne Swiger, of Clarksburg, and James McKenzie, of Richwood, have been named to officiate the Section eight Little Kanawha Valley basketball tournament at Glenville, February 22, 23, and 24, says Normantown principal G. E. Arthur, who will direct the meet.

Section eight, along with all other tournaments, has been moved up one week from the original date so the state meet will not conflict with Holy Week.

Drawings for the tournament will probably be made the first week in February.

The winner of the tournament will then go to the Region 2 meet at Jane Lew along with the champions of Sections 5, 6, and 7.

In 1949, the Red Terrors defeated Tanner for sectional honors and then bested Sand Fork and Bristol for the Region 2 crown. They lost out in the state meet as Oceana beat them in the first round, 43-41.

The past year, Normantown walked off with sectional honors, but was defeated by Fairview in the Regional.

This year the tourney looks like a toss up between Normantown, Tanner, and Glenville, with Sand Fork or Troy springing a possible upset.

Decked in red corduroy uniforms received January 8, the four high school cheerleaders - Alice Anne Griffith, Susan Arnold, Patricia Greenleaf and Patty Hardman - cheerfully let yells of the Glenville fans at the Gassaway-Glenville basketball game.

The new uniforms, similar to the white dresses previously worn by the cheerleaders, are a brilliant red.

Famous Recordings Played By Mr. Moore

Mr. Homer L. (Tiny) Moore, Glenville state college student, taking directed teaching in Glenville high school, played a volume of records called "Hear It Now" to some of the high school classes Thursday, December 21.

The recordings, ranging from the time of the depression to the end of World War II, consisted of the voices of famous men such as: Franklin D. Roosevelt, Herbert Hoover, Mussolini, John L. Lewis, Chamberlain, Adolf Hitler, Wilhelmina, Winston Churchill, Princess Elizabeth, Wendell Wilkie, Charles DeGaul, Joe Stalin, Thomas Dewey, Harry Truman, and General Eisenhower.

Many famous events that were recorded, included the explosion of the Hindenburg at Lakehurst, New Jersey; bombing of Pearl Harbor, the ringing of the liberty bell on V. E. Day; the fall of Denmark and Norway in World War II; the battles at Bataan, Corregidor, and the Burma Road; German invasion in Russia; and the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Besides the actual happenings and speeches in the recordings, Edward R. Murrow narrated many of the important events of World War II.

New Manual Training Equipment Received

The manual training department of Glenville high school recently received a shipment of tools and supplies to be used by the manual training class, under the supervision of Mr. Rymer Garrett.

The shipment included two gallons of glue; two, four foot clamps; three dozen jig-saw blades; one, ¼ inch bit; two gallons laquer thinner; 25 sheets crocus cloth; 25 sheets sandpaper; one book, "Wood Finishing And Painting Made Easy," one gallon varnish; a motor-driven sander with interchangeable bits; a portable grinder; two hand saws; and a set of small pointed saws.

A new paint-sprayer was added earlier this year.

Other supplies have been ordered, says Mr. Garrett.

All the equipment received was financed by the Gilmer County board of education.

Fifty New Books Are Received By Library

Mrs. Pauline Hickman, Glenville high school librarian, announces that about fifty new books have been received and are to be put on the shelves soon. They include fiction, non-fiction, and biography. "Three books, Rocket Ship Galileo and Space Cadet both by Heinlein and The Galleon from Manila by Hurd will be especially interesting to boys interested in science," says Mrs. Hickman.

Several of the books have been recently copy righted, in 1949-50. A few of them are: The Black Opal - Bird, Touchdown Glory - Archibald, Another Spring - Eyre, U. and the Duchess - Fenton, Mountain Laurel - Emery, Linda Takes Over Choate and Curtis, Storm of Dancerwood - Chipperfield, Bertie Comes Through - Felsen, Joan Foster, Junior - Calder, Black Stallion and Satan - Farley, Sue Barton Series - Boylston, Star In My Crown - Brown, and T-Quarterback - Emery.

Mrs. Murphy Directs Christmas Assembly

The annual Christmas assembly was presented Thursday, December 21, at 10 a. m. for the grades and 2 p. m. for the high school. The high school chorus, under the direction of Miss Elsie Elswick, a junior at Glenville state college, sang several Christmas carols and Mr. Homer L. (Tiny) Moore, a student teacher at Glenville high school, narrated some stories. On the stage the chorus formed a tree which was lighted with flashlights covered with blue paper and a large star glowed overhead. The assembly, under the direction of Mrs. Murphy, was concluded with the singing of two songs by the audience.

Each home room had a tree and other decorations. A home room program was presented Friday afternoon concluded by a visit from Santa Claus whose helpers gave ice cream and cupcakes to the students.

Several Glenville high school students went to the auditorium Monday, January 8, to listen to President Truman's speech on the radio.

"Tiny" Moore Was Personal Pilot To Italy's Armed Force Leader

"I was Marshall Badoglio's personal pilot," stated Mr. Homer L. (Tiny) Moore, recently at Glenville high school, where he related some of his experiences as a Major in the United States Air Force.

Marshall Badoglio, head of the Italian armed forces at the time of Italy's surrender, tried to get the Italian air force to fly him into Naples to arrange surrender terms with the Allies. Since the air force was afraid of getting their plane shot down, Badoglio asked Mr. Moore to fly him to Naples. After accomplishing this mission, Mr. Moore became Badoglio's personal pilot.

For work accomplished in the Allied Military Mission to Italy, under the leadership of Lieutenant General Mason McFarlane, Governor General of Gibraltar, Major Moore was sent to talk to General Eisen-

"A high school band would be one of the finest things this county has ever had," stated Mr. Roland Butcher, Gilmer county superintendent of schools, when he was interviewed recently at the board of education office.

The board has already begun working on a band by sending questionnaires to all schools in the county to find how many students are interested. The superintendent believes that a band can be started and is willing to help all he can.

"The board of education is not trying to fight the efforts of those who want a band; instead, they are very much interested themselves," he says.

"The big problem that faces the board now is how to finance a band," emphasized Mr. Butcher.

He said that the organization of a band would mean paying one more teacher, which would cost $1800 a year, at least, not speaking of the uniforms and instruments that would have to be bought.

The board of education has succeeded in locating seven uniforms from the old Gilmer county band. These uniforms have been cleaned and stored in the board of education office. Should a newly organized band choose to use the same colors, these uniforms could possibly be used, says Mr. Butcher.

Two Juniors To Visit Legislative Session

An election will be held soon to choose two juniors of Glenville high school who will attend the first annual "Know Your State Government Day" Monday, February 5, at the state capitol in Charleston.

The junior boy and girl elected will meet state officials and receive briefing on the work of the state legislature, attend a luncheon as guests of the West Virginia Education Association, visit the legislature in session to observe the working of that division of government, and be conducted with other participants on a tour of the capitol building.

The aim of this project, which is under the direction of the Citizenship Committee of the West Virginia Education Association, is to develop good citizens.

Election here is under the direction of the student council.

"I'm Lucky To Be Alive!" Quotes Mr. Garrett, High School Teacher

"I'm lucky to be alive"

These are the words of Mr. Rymer Garrett, science and chemistry instructor in Glenville high school. He was a Technical Sergeant Aerial Engineer in the United States Air Force for three years.

While in India he was on the front collecting souvenirs for his brother. He had a full Japanese uniform and the Guerka Indians thought he was a Jap official and captured him. He was in captivity for about 5 hours. This story was carried from the Calcutta Newspaper to the United States Air Force magazine.

He entered the army December 22 1942 and was discharged October 26 1945. While in the army, he saw 5 of the 7 wonders of the world.

They are: Great Sequoia trees of California; Grand Canyon, Rainbow Natural Bridge of Utah; Carlsbad Caverns of New Mexico; and the Pyramids of Egypt. He was stationed in: United States, Azores, Canada, Africa, China, India and Burma. He has 1,000 hours of combat duty and used to speak a small amount of the Chinese language.

Mr. Garrett has also had 14 years of teaching experience. He taught 2 years at Dry Run; 4 years at Turkey Fork; 1 year at Rosedale; 6 years at Dusk Camp; and 1 year at Glenville. He received his A. B. degree from Glenville State College in 1949.

Mr. Garrett likes to teach because hower, commander-in-chief of the allied forces. After receiving a letter of recommendation signed by Bedell Smith, ambassador to Russia; Tooley Spatz, General Cannon, General Williams, General Beverly, and others, Major Moore went to visit Eisenhower.

"I had quite a little chat with General Eisenhower," remarked "Tiny". "We just talked and smoked cigarettes."

Mr. Moore also spent much of his time throughout Yugoslavia and the Balkans working with Marshall Tito, who, at that time lived in a cave near a waterfall in western Yugoslavia where he was in command of a group of Partisan Guerillas.

"Tiny" stated that Tito and his Partisans had no sense of humor. The only doctor in that part of the country was a woman who ran a Clang, clang went the bell for the dismissal of the classes, as a mad rush for the door was on. All of a sudden a scream was heard and a little girl was hurt. This hasn't happened, but it could some day soon.

The Editors Desk

In this month's issue the editor decided to use some space to commend the small number of students who attend the basketball games and support the Red Terrors.

Commendation should equally be bestowed upon the members of the Red Terror basketball squad and their coach, Mr. Wolfe.

Tournament time will soon be here, the time when critical opinions will be formed.

After some of the dull, exciting, and unforgettable experiences during the Christmas holidays, some probable resolutions were: "I ain't gonna' read no more."

Santa Claus was very extravagant when he gave Betty Turner and Doris Jean Ashcraft necklaces and ear rings.

The second semester of school rolls around and the time has come when some students are changing their schedule.

In case anyone has heard sweet notes pouring from Wanema Davidson's throat and can't realize what has happened, she's memorizing the song, "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows."

STUDENT STATICS

By Gypsy Rose

Goodbye to 1950 and hello to 1951. We hope it will be a much better year. Have you noticed all the new things the students have been wearing?

Daffinations

Dignity: the capacity to hold back on the tongue what never should have been on the mind in the first place.

Drinking: a subject that floors a lot of people.

Humans: two species, male and female.

New Year's resolutions: Easy in two ways: easy to make and easy to break

Student Characteristics

Gene Keaton's brown eyes.

Bobby Wilson's popularity with the girls.

Jim Ferrell's curly hair.

Erwina Mackey's dimples.

Marlyn Kirkpatrick's mischievous gleam in her eye.

Impossible Situation

Principal (in an assembly): As you students have been so studious the past semester, I am giving you a month's vacation.

Student Body: We don't want a vacation; we like school.

Joe Stalin: I will do anything in my power to promote peace in the world.

U. S. boys wearing skirts to school.

Teacher: How much are two and two, Johnnie?

Johnnie: I don't know.

Teacher: If I laid two eggs on one side of the desk, then laid two more on the other side, how many would there be?

Johnnie: I don't think you could do it.

Mrs. Green (after her son, Junior asked for his fourth helping of pie): Be careful dear, there was once a boy who ate too much pie and burst.

Junior: Couldn't be. No such thing as too much pie.

Mrs. Green: Then why did the little boy burst?

Junior: Just not enough boy.

Does anyone have any suggestions to what THE THING is? Here is a poetic ditty to relate one.

As I was searching through my trunk

To find some clothes to wear

I saw a funny looking thing that was very peculiar.

I picked it up to look at it and much

In my surprise, Oh I discovered my father's toopce right before my eyes.

A lot of boys and girls were seen carrying mistletoe before the Christmas Holiday. Wonder why?

Every New Year's many of the students make resolutions, some of which are carried out and the rest are broken. Here are a few of the student's resolutions:

Cecil Reaser - "Be a cuddle bug."

Marlene Brown - "Keep a certain Air Force guy mail happy."

Susan Arnold - "Keep my eyes open for stray air force planes to fly over my house."

John Cain - "Spend less time up Riverview."

Pat Greenleaf - "Stick close to a Chrysler."

Gerry McGinnis - "Keep a certain sailor at Great Lakes up to date on all the news."

Doris Jean Ashcraft - "Be true to Bill Dodd."

Petty Turner - "Wait on my sailor and go easy on nop's phone bill."

"Peaches" Furr and Wanda Bailey - "We plodge to be faithful supporters of the Red Terrors."

PTA PRESENTS SKETCH

A short sketch was the main feature of the P. T. A. meeting held Thursday, January 4, in the Glenville high school auditorium at 8 o' clock.

Mrs. Clark Wolfe was in charge of the program.

Harry Hoover, Janitor, Rates Two 1950 Graduates Tops In Basketball

Between-season conversations around the school have naturally drifted around as to who the best players of the past Glenville high school athletic teams have been, whether the present players are as good as the old-timers, who will win what this year, and what will happen next year.

Were the gridiron gladiators better this year than before? "No," says Hoover. "The 1946 team was the best to represent the Red Terrors in football, and the 1950 Cagers were the best to don the red and white in basketball."

In answer to the question, "Who were the best all-time basketball players?" Hoover says, "Tall, shot-making Bob Turner, and that shooting wizard, Bob 'Hooks' Hardman give height to a quintet balanced by fast, slippery George Schimmel, steady Fred Gainer, and that fast breaking expert, Leon Starkey."

To peer into the future, Harry bravely ventures out on a limb and unhesitatingly picks Glenville or Tanner to be the cream of the current basketball crop.

"Winners of the tournament? Glenville, of course," says Harry, "but it will be a fight all of the way."

Harry predicts that the Glenville high school football team for 1951 will be "fair".

Terrors Move To Second Spot In C.W.V.C.

Undefeated "Elks" Leading Conference

Glenville Drops Troy, San dFork, Clay And Tanner

BULLETIN

Clay dropped the Red Terrors from second place in the CWVC race Friday night in a 69-65 contest at Clay. The Panthers, outscored from the floor, crashed in on 17 out of 37 tries at the foul line while Glenville was garnering 7 for 20.

TERRORS MOVE TO 2ND

The Glenville Red Terrors moved into second place Wednesday in the Central West Virginia Conference race by virtue of Clay's victory over Normantown Tuesday, and the Terror's 43-38 win over Tanner Monday. The front running Gassaway Elks continue undefeated in conference play with four wins and no losses.

The Red Terrors, in the next two weeks, will swing into what probably is the toughest part of the season's cage card. On Jan. 16 the Red Wave will journey to Morgantown to meet a tough University High team that probably will be paced by holdovers Danish and Pawley. (This game will be aired over station WAJR in Morgantown.) Then on Jan. 19 the Terrors will play host to the West Union Bulldogs, who recently gave the Wolfemen a sound shellacking on their home court. The Terrors will be gunning for this tilt, and hope to turn the tide against the Doddridge countians.

ELKS DOWN TERRORS 63-52

In a hard fought battle for the conference lead the Gassaway Elks downed the "fighting Terrors" 62-53 in an overtime period on the local floor January 5. The Smythemen, holding a lead most of the way, suddenly found they were in a ball game as the game Terror team went ahead 52-50 with 10 seconds to play. Glenville then pulled a fatal boner in failing to waive a foul shot. Gassaway's flashy sophomore, Gay, threw in the tying goal to send the game into an overtime period. Gassaway then exploded for ten points while holding the losers to one foul goal. "Red" Mullins led the Gassaway scoring with 31 points, while Rhoades paced the Red Terrors with 17.

GLENVILLE UPSETS TANNER

On Jan. 8 the Terrors scored a 48-36 victory over a Tanner team that was playing without the services of their star, Frank Cain. Glenville led all the way and were never seriously threatened by the Bulldogs. With Bob Reed and Ferman

Rhoades bearing the brunt of the attack, garnering 18 and 15 respectively, the Terror, converted 8 out of sixteen foul shots while Fanner hit for only 12 out of 30.

WEST UNION WINS, 57-41

The Glenville Red Terrors absorbed their second defeat of the year, 57-41, to the Doddridge county Bulldogs at West Union Dec. 21. The boys from West Union led only 7-5 at the end of the first period, but set a stunning pace in the second canto with which the smaller Terrors could not cope. Although the locals did outscore the winners in the second half 28-27 the Red Wave could not overcome the deficit piled up by the Bulldogs in the second period. The winners displayed an amazing fast break and made a good percentage of their shots. For Glenville, there was only one bright spot, the play of Bob Reed, elongated center, who stretched the nets for 18 points while Bernard Heflin was high for Doddridge with 23.

TANNER STUNS TERRORS

Tanner high uncorked a last quarter rally which knocked the Red Terrors from the unbeaten ranks Friday night, December 15, as the Bulldogs took a 33-26 victory from the locals on the college floor.

Cain led the DeKalb lads scoring attack with 14 points while Reed did most of the Terror tallying, contributing 10 to the losing cause of the Wolfemen.

The Terrors were limited to three field goals in the half, and made only 6 of 18 charity tosses while Tanner converted 13 of 26. The Tanner team scored all of its buckets from close range, preying constantly on the spotty Terror defense.

DOWN TROY, 46-23

The Red Terrors held Troy scoreless for the first 13 minutes Tuesday night, December 19, and then went on to trounce Coach Damon West's boys 46-23 for the local's second home victory of the season.

Glenville started slowly, holding a five to nothing lead at the close of the first quarter, but picked up steadily and were never seriously threatened.

Reed led the Glenville scoring with 12, while Burkhammer was high for Troy with 10.

Reed Is Named On All-Star Conference Football Team

Bob Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Reed, of Glenville, was recently named an end on the Central West Virginia all-conference football team, selection of which was made by a committee of coaches in the conference. Glenville placed three men on the second team and two on the honorable mention list. The first all-conference team is: ENDS: Reed, Glenville; King, Clay TACKLES: House, Webster Springs Squires, Webster Springs GUARDS: Byrne, Gassaway; Reed, Clay CENTER: Kidd, Sutton BACKS: Talbott, Webster Springs Lindsay, Burnsville; Gray, Clay; Heater, Gassaway.

Local boys selected on the second team are: tackle, Haymon Boggs; guard, Bill Boggs; back, Bernard Elyson. Boys receiving honorable mention are: End, Bud Huff; Back, John Shock.

Standing of the six teams at the close of the season are:

TEAM	WON	LOST	TIED
Webster Springs	3	0	0
Clay	2	1	0
Sutton	2	1	1
Gassaway	2	3	0
Burnsville	0	1	2
Glenville	0	3	1

"G" Club Purchases Red Senior Jackets

The jackets ordered on December 5 for the senior boys participating in football or basketball and the senior cheerleaders should arrive soon," stated Mr. Leroy Stennett, principal of Glenville high school.

The jackets, purchased by the G Club, are made of brushed wool, red with white trimming on pockets, panel down the sleeve, "Glenville" written on the back, and first name or nickname written on the left in front. They are not the reversible type.

The cost of each jacket is $12.00, if they have two pockets" said Mr. Woodrow Wolfe, coach and teacher.

The following will receive jackets: Alice Anne Griffith, Bob Reed, Cecil Reaser, Denzil Huff, Ferman Rhoades, Joe Floyd, and Bill Dodd.

anything on that order," she commented, "and I thought it was very good."

Wednesday was the regular routine at the workshop. That night she heard two speakers — Carlos Romulo, U. N. representative from the Philippines, and Margaret Mead, curator of Art in New York.

Points of interest that Anne Lynne visited were: Congressional Library, Senate and House buildings, Capitol, White House, Blair House, Washington Monument, Lincoln Memorial, and Supreme Court building and others.

Six thousand people attended the conference, five hundred of which were youths. Delegates from all the states and forty-one different countries attended the meeting.

Some panel members who attended the conference were: President of the High School Council; President of Junior Red Cross; Member of Regional Advisory Council, National Student Association.

hospital with the help of some of the Partisans. The officers of Tiny's group were elected, but they maintained a strong discipline after they got into office.

"It was nothing," remarked "Tiny" to see a small child or a woman carrying a German pistol after killing the German to get it."

After receiving numerous decorations and rewards while overseas, Mr. Moore returned to the United States, where he worked as a test-pilot for a short time, then became chief of production control for the Spokane Air Technical Command.

After completing five years in the air force, he became general manager of the Universal Supply Company of Spokane until he decided to return to Glenville and continue his education. He is now a student teacher in Glenville high school.

When he was asked how he felt about going back into service, he replied, "It makes no difference to me. I am ready any time."

During the time he was in the air force "Tiny" traveled in all 48 states and 21 foreign countries.

he likes to associate with young people. Mr. Garrett says the differences he has found in teaching the grade school children and high school students are: it is a greater problem of discipline in the high school; the high school has more materials to work with; and the attendance is better in the high school. When asked to compare the student body of this year with that of the past year, he stated, "there is better discipline, the students are quieter in the halls, and they study more."

Bill Dodd Is Ninth Male President Of Student Council In Eleven Years

Nine boys and two girls have been president of the student council of Glenville high school in the past eleven years.

The girls holding this office were Mary Alice Wagner, 1941-42; and Marito Mae Furr, 1944-45. The boys who were presidents are Earl Stalaker, 1940-41; Ted Fultineer, 1942-43; Jack Hardman, 1943-44; Bob Arnold, 1945-46; Charles Adams, 1946-47; Frank Fultineer, 1947-48; Richard Dean Riddle 1948-49; Bob Woodyard, 1949-50, and Bill Dodd, president for 1950-51.

Other officers for this year are Jacky Cawthorn, vice president; Anne Lynn Hickman, secretary; and Kenneth Starett, treasurer.

Since the organization of the student council in 1937 under the leadership of Mr. Stanley Hall, Mr. William C. Hall, Mrs. Currey, and Mrs. Lestelle Murphy, director at the present time, have been the sponsors.

call, trying to rattle the visiting player, and the official, which incidentally cast one of the votes for our rating last year, had to call time out and ask the crowd to be quiet. This is entirely unsportsmanlike and an uncalled for gesture on our part. When the sportsmanship ratings come out next year, will we again be on top?

Another little item along this line, which has not been a problem until just recently is this. You might call them "drugstore quarterbacks" or "Grandstand Coaches" or whatever you wish. Anyway, in some of the games this year, when our coach made a change in the line-up, boos went up from some of our students. Let's try to refrain from this in the future and let the coach run the team. After all, that is his job.

Miss Fonda Wellings, Doddridge county 4-H exchange member, showed slides of pictures which were taken during her visit to foreign countries, January ninth during an assembly, of the Glenville high school students.

Miss Wellings was chosen one of forty-two exchange members to visit and work on foreign farms. Miss Wellings was a representative to Ireland.

During her trip of five months she

SPORT SHORTS

In recent ratings released by the West Virginia Athletic Association, Glenville high school was among the top rankers in the state for sportsmanship, the votes being cast by officials that worked the games. Their votes were not only based on the attitude of coaches and players, but also the conduct of the fans (this means you — students of Glenville high school).

In a recent basketball game this writer noticed that when a rival player started to shoot a foul, our cheering section would boo and cat-
