Four Students Of Glenville Win West Virginia Club Test

The students in Glenville high school know well the facts and figures of West Virginia as was evidenced by the results of the West Virginia Club tests, given here Friday, April 27 to a select group of Gilmer county students.

All four winners of the Golden Horseshoe tests are from Glenville. They are: Anne Lynn Hickman, Billy Bell Lorentz, Mary Helen Plunkett, and Barbara Clark. Kenneth Post, also from Glenville, was in fifth place.

Previous winners of the tests from Glenville were "Kitty" Brannon, Marianne Rhoades, Georgia Reed and George Schimmel. Mrs. Murphy also was the teacher of this group.

The new winners will journey to Charleston to the State Capitol May 11 to be knighted by Governor Paterson. Mrs. Murphy will accompany the group.

Summer School Will Begin Here July 13

Summer training school at Glenville high school will start Monday, June 4 and will last until Friday July 13, a 6-week period, with classes starting at 9:30 and ending at 11:30. Courses being offered are: English, Miss Goldine Woodford; social studies, Mr. Nelson Wells; and music, by various members of Glenville college's music department. Effort is also being made to obtain an art teacher, says Mr. Stennett, who will again be in charge of the school. Grade school teachers have not as yet been named.

ATTEND SENIOR DAY

Members of the senior class of Glenville high school and 81 other high schools in the Central West Virginia area attended the annual senior day at Glenville state college, Thursday May 3, with Registrar Michael E. Posey as overall chairman.

The Glenville state student body acted as host, with various campus organizations doing different phases of the day's program.

Seven Special Privileges Granted To The Graduating Class Of 1951

After arguing with their greatest zeal and pleading earnestly like victims before a firing squad, the seniors succeeded in getting their privileges. Some changes were made by the student council and the teachers in the provisions of the legal document, but the seniors are satisfied.

The seven special rights which were granted to the '51 seniors are:

1. Seniors are excused from some room periods (8:45-9:00, 12:00-1:00) during the last six weeks of school.

2. Seniors are excused from the sixth period study halls the last six weeks of school providing they have a 75% average for the second semester.

TOPS IN HER CLASS

Alice Anne Griffith, above, will deliver the valedictory speech at commencement exercises Thursday night. Cheerleader, editor of the Satellite, member of Student Council, she has earned an enviable reputation of studiousness, dependability, and unselfishness -- all done in three years at Glenville high school.

High School Students, Faculty Members Plan For Summer Vacation

New football equipment has been ordered and will arrive in time for use next fall. Coach Wolfe says that new basketball uniforms and warm-ups will be ordered prior to next season.

Summer is here and school days are almost over. Now, what are we going to do this summer? Some of us may be lucky enough to go on a vacation and others of us will stay at home and help on the farm. Here are what a few of the students will be doing:

Alice Anne Griffith: "Attend Glenville state college."

Louise Meadows and Annie Beall: "Plan to do the least we can get by with."

Pat Greenleaf: "Stay up at my sister's house in Sand Fork."

Gerry McGinnis: "Visit my relatives in Akron, Ohio."

John Cain: "Work on the farm for dad."

Doris J. Ashcraft: "Work."

Susan Arnold: "Work in the Rex-all Drug Store."

Marlene Brown: "Go to Glenville state college and work at the Texaco in my spare time."

Wanema Davidson: "I might go to college, but have not definitely decided yet."

Tommy Hyer: "Get a job or play on the Junior Legion Baseball team."

Bill Stout: "Do as little as I can"

Dr. Kermit Cook, Professor Of West Virginia University, Will Deliver The High School Commencement Address

Three-Act Farce Presented By Seniors

"The Campbells Are Coming," a three-act farce comedy, by Jay Tobias, was presented by the senior class of Glenville high school, Tuesday May 1, at 8 o'clock in the Glenville state college auditorium under the direction of Mr. Woodrow Wolfe senior sponsor.

The cast consisted of: Ma Brannigan, Louise Smith; Catalpa Tapp, Monnie Jean Greenleaf; Betty Brannigan, Alice Anne Griffith; Dick Brannigan, John Shock; Bildad Tapp James Furr; Cyrus Scudder, Tom Hyer; Jeffery Scudder, Bill Dodd; Kaye Brannigan, Marlene Brown; Kingston Campbell, Denzil Huff; and Augusta Campbell, Wanema Davidson.

With a hillbilly setting in the Ozark Mountains, the play described the most effective technique for getting rid of an undesirable suitor.

Projects Displayed By Classes At P. T. A.

An estimated 300 persons attended the P. T. A. meeting in the Glenville high school auditorium May 3 to view the projects displayed by students in the high school and grade school classes.

Some of the things that were displayed were: lamps, tables and other furniture made by the manual training class; products made from crude oil, a miniature oil derrick, different kinds of water wheels, several pictures that were developed by students, picture toners, and other items made by the chemistry and science classes. The home economics class displayed dresses, house slippers, decorative wall plaques and several other items. They show displays of how to set the table and how to use a sewing machine. The math classes had displays of figure-drawing. The world history class, journalism, typing, and elementary classes also had displays.

Members of the chemistry and science classes have been learning to develop negatives and make pictures.

Reverend Comp To Deliver Sermon May 18

Senior Week activities will be completed with the awarding of diplomas Thursday evening, May 17, at the Glenville state college auditorium at 8:00 p. m. Dr. Kermit Cook, West Virginia University professor, will deliver the commencement address.

Alice Anne Griffith, valedictorian, has chosen "Pass Our Blunders By" for her oration, and Bill Dodd, Salutatorian, will speak on "Following The Gleam".

"Never Say Die", senior class motto, will be the topic of the talk at the baccalaureate sermon May 13, at 2:00 p. m. in the college auditorium. Reverend Eldred M. Comp, local Methodist minister, will be the official speaker.

Jim Furr, senior class president, was principal Thursday April 26, senior control day, when members of the senior class took over the positions of teachers, principal and janitor. Cecil Reaser was janitor for the day.

The senior skip day was held Friday, May 11 when the seniors journeyed to Hawk's Nest and Charleston where they viewed the Sady Hawkins Day parade.

Members of the graduating class are: Bill Dodd, Cecil Reaser, Jr., Alice Anne Griffith, Wanema Davidson, Jim Furr, Joe Floyd, Marlene Brown, Bob Reed, Denzil Huff, Louise Smith, Ted Hall, Fernmen Rhoades, Maynard Ellyson, Meta Kirkppoarick, Buena Staele, Monnie Jean Greenleaf and Marilyn Kirkpatrick.

CALL FOR PHILLIP MORRIS!

Johnny, famous Phillip Morris cigarette advertising man, arrived at Glenville high school Thursday, April 26, at 3:45.

Johnny has been with the Phillip Morris cigarette company for 16 years and has traveled over 2 million miles in that time. He is on his way from Chicago to New York. Johnny stayed in Glenville over night and continued to Clarksburg Friday April 27.

Two Teachers Of Glenville Public School Received Diplomas With Class Of 1930

By Bill Stout

Two teachers of Glenville school were in the first class to receive their diplomas in the first commencement exercise ever held here.

Mrs. Pauline Hickman, librarian, and Miss Freda Arnold, third grade instructor, were in the 1930 class, first group to graduate here. Others in the class were: Virgie Raffle (president), Erma Edwards (vice-president), Ioe Yost, Fred Lewis, Jr., Charlotte James, Jess Bell, Jr., Alma Westfall, Belle Hall, Graydon Woodford, Freda Satterfield, Fairy Kinnison, Freddie Rymer, Willie Cain, Juanita Huff, Rymer Furr, Clotelle Schock, Fondalee May, Har-

Ian Fitzpatrick, Mildred Engle, Fred Cain, Fred Miller, Frank Beall Jr., John Hendrick, Maude Sumpter, Dovie Collins and Oren Sumpter.

The first school in Glenville was held in the old Methodist Episcopal Church on College Street about 1833. The next school on record was in the Court House about 1850.

After 1875, school was held in an old wooden structure known as the Levery House. From 1884 to 1913 school was held in the "Ark"

From 1873 until 1928, the main part of the high school work was done in the Normal School. In 1929 the high school work was placed in a building of its own.

THINK IT OVER, SENIORS

In a recent survey conducted by the Satellite staff, it was found that only about five of the Glenville high school seniors plan to attend college after they graduate.

Probably more of them would attend, but certain circumstances will not permit it now. Many of the boys and possibly some of the girls see a good career with the Army, Navy, or Air Force.

Another reason for high school graduates not attending college is that defense plants throughout the nation offer good job opportunities with high wages.

Seniors, think twice before turning down an opportunity for a college education. It's for your own good.

LEST WE FORGET

In this day of fast and modern living, we have come to take too much for granted. For instance, we live from day to day with the cocky attitude that all the heritages and freedoms which we now enjoy, came to us because of some doings or work of our own.

But we as Americans must realize that all things, Freedom of Press, Speech, Religion, etc. came to us by the pioneering of our forefathers, such great men as George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and many others.

Everytime we indulge in one of these freedoms let us commend these great men of the past for a job well done, and look forward for future improvement, taking none of the past glory for ourselves.

WE FEEL ITS EFFECT

War, the state of using violence against another, is a factor which greatly influences the life of young American boys. In time of war they cannot be certain about their futures.

This one word, war, is perhaps the main problem which effects the education of the young citizens of today. Usually upon graduation the students plan to further their education by going to college, but now they cannot definitely view their future, and would rather enlist than be drafted later and have their education interrupted.

A NOBLE GESTURE

Some thanks and appreciation should be sent the way of Dr. Michael Josephs, Dr. Harry B. Heflin, and other college recreational officials for their fine job in providing not only a place but teachers of recreation for Glenville grade school children.

More of the town's citizens should put their words into action and get behind the college's recreational leaders in their effort to give the people of Glenville a period of relaxation from their routine work.

Patty Floyd, Beverly Clark Win 20 Minute Poem Contest In English Seven

Members of the seventh grade were given twenty minutes in which to write a poem concerning a flower recently.

The toothwort, he don't mind it The name don't matter much. For it ain't egg-zackly the name itself,

The following poems were chosen

THE TOOTHWORT The toothwort be a purty ting, To 'ave such an ugly name; And ever' time I seen it,

It's what it means to you, And the toothwort to me means something Fresh and sweet and pure and true.

I thought, "Oh, what a shame!" But now I 'ave decided, That though it's name be such,

THE DUTCHMAN'S BREECHES I know of a place in a shady nook Where the Dutchman's Breeches grow;

the two best ones by a committee consisting of Mrs. Hickman, their instructor and four students.

Along side a silvery brook In the wind they merrily bloom.

AS THE CAMPBELLS CAME

Shown above are members of the senior play cast in "The Campbells Are Coming", a three-act play presented May 1 in the College auditorium.

son, Denzil Huff, Bill Dodd, Jim Furr, and Tom Hyer. Peeking out from underneath the table is Alice Anne Griffith.

The sun is shining very bright And tries to look in to see; What those Dutchman's Breeches are hiding from me

STUDENT STATICS

By Gypsy Rose

Spring has finally arrived and with it all the bright colored cottons, baseball games and sunburns. Everyone is rushing around like mad to get all the spring work finished, and we have been taxing our brain to think of something to put in this column. Here goes:

Daffinations: Love song - cares, set to music Diplomacy - to do and say the nastiest thing in the nicest way. Radical - man with both feet in the air.

Did you know? Roberta Jarvis is a Genesis? Girls like to try on diamond rings for "sighs"?

Betty Turner is just waiting for the month of June for Bill, the sailor Edwina Mackey hopes the college boys will be as nice looking when she goes to college as they are now? Graduation is just around the corner?

An intelligent man invented money. Then another ruined everything by inventing credit?

Common Philosophy: Like a famous French humorist and satirist, the seniors have made their will. "We owe much, we have nothing; the rest we leave to the poor."

The only original thing about some men is original sin

Have you Noticed? Bill Bogg's bright colored T-shirt? Mary H. Plunkett and Anne L. Hickman's identical dresses? Patty Floyd's bright checked shirt One of the student teacher's loud colored ties? Patricia Greenleaf's dangling earrings?

As this is the last issue of the paper, we'll close by saying "So Long - It's been good to know you."

Seven physical education majors from Glenville state college are taking their directed teaching in Glenville high school. They are: Norman Ball, Roy Hays, Jim Laughlin, Tony Megna, Joe Rader, Gene White, Shirley Wilson.

A short movie, "Birth of the Soil", was shown to the science and biology classes Monday April 22.

Reverend Klaus Speaks On History And Conditions Existing In Sumatra

Rev. Armin Klaus, a missionary from Sumatra, was guest speaker in an assembly held in the Glenville high school auditorium in March. Along with Mr. Klaus was Rev. Comp, pastor of the Glenville Trinity Methodist Church, and Dr. Henry High, Methodist district superintendent.

The missionary began his talk by showing on the map where the island of Sumatra is located. After asking students to name the animals and fruits that grow best in Sumatra, he named several himself. Some of the animals that he named were: Tigers, monkeys, apes, gorillas, chimpanzees and snakes, which are sometimes eaten when other food is scarce.

"Snake meat isn't bad," stated Mr. Klaus.

Some of the fruits that he said thrived well in Sumatra's hot wet climate were: bananas, coconuts and pineapple. Sumatra exports such as coffee, oil, tobacco for cigars and rubber.

"Rubber didn't grow originally in our country, but was transplanted from other countries," he stated.

"We raise some of the finest tea in the world," says the missionary. He told about the people of Sumatra. He said the people are brown. The official language is the Indonesian language.

"This language," he said, "is not spoken by the common people, out by the well educated people."

Over 90% of the people of Sumatra are illiterate. There are schools in Sumatra, but the people are uninterested because they are poor and the hot climate keeps them from being very energetic. Most of their energy is consumed in growing enough rice to eat. Different classes of people in Sumatra eat different things. They all eat rice, not with sugar and cream as we eat it, but with salt. Before eating the rice they roll it into a ball with their hands. The wealthier people also have vegetables to eat with the rice. "The men," he said, "wear just shorts and the women wear skirts and jackets."

Rev. Klaus said he was in prison for 2 1/2 years during the past war, when the Japanese invaded the Dutch East Indies, which is now the Republic of Indonesia. He told how Indonesia became a Republic.

"Their government," he says, "is patterned after that of the United States."

The government is in the hands of a few people, since the common people cannot vote because of illiteracy. The Indonesian people are trying to do away with the rule of the white man.

"The Indonesian people want the friendship of the United States," stated the missionary.

In answer to questions of the students, Mr. Klaus said Indonesia has some cars, but 90% of them are either Fords or Chevrolets. Parts and mechanics for other cars are not available, he said.

Mr. Klaus also spoke the Indonesian language in answer to a request of one of the students.

Annual Junior-Senior Banquet Held May 4

The annual junior-senior banquet of Glenville high school was held at the Glenville Trinity Methodist Church, 6:30 p. m., May 4.

Bill Boggs acted as toastmaster. Guest speaker was Mr. Linn Hickman, local newsman and board of education member.

Mr. Harold Orendorff, college music instructor, and three college boys furnished music for the occasion.

Those present at the banquet were: 19 juniors, 17 seniors, 9 high school faculty members, and other school officials of Gilmer county.

Mrs. Muriel G. Curry Attends Mathematics Meeting At Pittsburgh

Mrs. Muriel G. Curry, mathematics teacher of Glenville high school, attended the 29th annual meeting of the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics held at Pittsburgh March 28-31.

The four-day conference, which was attended by some 1000 educators and famous textbook authors, consisted of talks, demonstrations, and exhibits.

Mrs. Curry saw a teaching demonstration by Dr. Catherine Stern, a textbook author from the Castle school of New York City. She met William Betz of Rochester, who is an author of algebra textbooks, and Virgil S. Mallory, also a textbook author.

Present at the meeting was Ida Mae Heard of Louisiana, author of "Just For Fun," a humor math book.

Mrs. Curry heard an address on "The Teachers Faith," by Dr. Dwayne Orton, director of the International Business Machine Corp.

Mrs. Curry also attended the state conference of math teachers at Huntington's Marshall college April 6-7.

Stennett Named Vice President Of CWVC; Reed, Rhoades On All Star Team

At the spring meeting of Central West Virginia Conference Basketball Coaches, held at Gassaway high school, Monday, March 26, new conference officials were elected and all-conference basketball selections were made. Representing Glenville on the all-star squad were Center Bob Reed and Forward Fernmen Rhoades, both seniors. New officers elected for the coming year are: Viris Cromer, principal of Gassaway high school, president; Leroy Stennett, principal of Glenville high school, vice president; P. C. Black, principal of Clay high school, secretary.

The first, second and third teams elected are: First team: Mullins, Gassaway; Gray, Clay; Reed, Glenville; Cobb, Burnsville; Talbott, Webster Springs.

Second Team: Jenkins, Norman-town; Bush, Tanner; Wilmoth, Sand Fork; Crutchfield, Sutton; Rhoades, Glenville.

Third Team: Royster, Troy; Miller, Sand Fork; Ellyson, Tanner; Burton, Cowen; Kidd, Sutton.

SPORT SHORTS

By Joe Floyd

Taking an analysis of the past year's athletic campaign at Glenville high school, we find it, as might have been termed in the old days, "fair to middlin'".

Beginning with football, in the middle of August football practice began with very few aspirants on the scene and it looked for a while as though football would die in this school. But enough promising candidates were mustered up until the outlook was somewhat on the bright side. But another important factor played havoc with the squad, an epidemic of injuries broke out causing the Terrors to launch on the season's tough schedule with a gloomy view. They finished their tough slate with 4 wins and 5 losses and one tie. As we have said before this was "fair to middlin'".

In basketball, Coach Wolfe, although not faced with the problem of player shortage, was faced with a rebuilding problem, having only one holdover from the previous season's team. But the surprising ability of a number of lettermen was a great asset to this cause. In midseason they hit a period of "tough sledding" but came back strong in late season to finish with a .500 season's record and carry away the Section 8B tournament crown. They lost out in the regional to Fairview, who went on to capture the state championship. Again we say "fair to middlin' boys".

In spring sports, baseball was discontinued because of lack of participants. Speculations for a track squad is under elaboration by Coach Wolfe.

Here is a poem about a subject which is a popular subject for debate around Glenville during the basketball season. There is a great deal of truth contained in this poem.

REFEREES

I think I shall never see
A satisfactory referee,
About whose head a halo shines,
One who calls them as they are
And not as I should wish by far.
A gent who leans not either way
But lets the boys decide the play;
A guy who'll sting the coach who yaps,
From Siwash Hi or old Millsaps.
Poems are made by fools like me
But only God can referee.

Ten Games On '51 Football Slate: Returning Lettermen Show Promise

Coach Woodrow Wolfe of the Glenville Red Terrors recently announced a tough ten-game football slate for the 1951 gridiron squad, opening with the Jane Lew Redskins in their annual tilt at Weston. From all indications the Terrors will play the first game on new-born Terror field on Sept. 14 against Sutton. Practice will begin on August 26.

The football squad shows promise next season with a large number of lettermen returning. An experienced backfield made up of Tom Hyer, John Shock, Dom Nocida, Bernard Ellyson and a strong forward wall formed by Bud Huff, Haynon

Boggs, Bill Stout, Bill Boggs, David Reed, Dick Varner and Bill Wood-yard should prove to be a winning combination.

The complete football schedule is as follows:

Sept. 6 Jane Lew Weston
Sept. 14 Sutton Home
Sept. 21 Ripley Home
Sept. 28 Burnsville Away
Oct. 5 Walton Away
Oct. 12 Clay Away
Oct. 19 Gassaway Home
Oct. 26 Buckhannon Away
Nov. 2 Unidis Home
Nov. 12 Burnsville Home

Joe Blow, Fan Of America's Pastime, Has Small Knowledge Of Game Rules

By Joe Floyd

He's out! He's safe! Kill the umpire! Robber!

It happens every spring with the beginning of baseball season. It's the high shrill voice of Joe Blow, America's average baseball fan, questioning the integrity of the arbitrator of America's great past time. This questioning, in a large number of cases, is due to ignorance of the rules.

Take for instance, the average baseball fan of today doesn't know the details of the infield fly rule. An infield fly is a fair fly which in the judgment of the umpire can be caught by the infielder with ordinary effort and providing it is hit with runners on 1st and 2nd or 1st, 2nd or 3rd bases with less than two outs. When an infield fly is hit in a case such as this the umpire calls out immediately the batter for the benefit of the runners, who can advance at their own risk.

Another rule which is not clear to most people is the new balk rule which was so controversial last season. The rule states that with runners on base and the pitcher takes his stretch motion to look at the runner, he must come to a complete stop before making his delivery to the batter. The penalty for infractions of this rule is, all runners advance one base and the delivery even though it might pass through

Leavings From The Editors Desk

This last month of school has been one of hustle and bustle for the students of Glenville high. Some of the classes have been preparing exhibits for the PTA program. The eighth grade has been cramming for the West Virginia club test with excellent results due to Anne Lynne Hickman, Mary Helen Plunkett, Barbara Clark, and Billy Beall Lorentz winning Golden Horseshoes and a trip to Charleston. The junior class and their sponsor, Miss Woodford, have worked on the junior-senior banquet which proved a big success and the seniors have worked on their play, glad that it is over now, planned their skip day to Hawk's Nest, attended senior day at the college, and taught school for one day that seemed as endless as time.

But yet, the biggest factor which causes this commotion is the season—spring, the time of year when nobody is sad or mad, just glad. The old saying, "In spring a young man's fancy turns to love," has proved truthful after all.

The senior play, "The Campbells Ore Coming," was a success, even though Tommy Hyer's chair fell down in the second act and Wanema Davidson had a terrific struggle all during the presentation trying to keep her stuffing from falling. Billy Joe Woodyard says that he likes her better without padding.

If the students of this battle-scarred school wish to feast their eyes upon a clean room they should rush to the journalism office. It won't be hard to find, just ride the elevator up to the third floor and stop off and gaze into the little room marked number 29. Rush now, for it won't be clean long.

Ward Brannon's art achievements are some of the greatest ever earned by anyone in this school. Recently he won second prize in a state art contest sponsored by the Womans Clubs of West Virginia.

In this last issue one sentence was requested by the members of the senior class, "Please don't talk about us when we're gone."

Alice Anne Griffith Named Valedictorian

Alice Anne Griffith, daughter of Mrs. O. R. Griffith of Glenville, has been named valedictorian of the 1951 graduating class. She had a scholastic average of 2.64. Alice Anne is a transfer student from the junior class and has taken part in both the junior and senior class plays this year.

Bill Dodd was named salutatorian with a 2.48 scholastic average. Bill is serving as secretary of the senior class and was also a member of the senior play cast.

STARKEY, FRAME ENLIST

Two alumni of Glenville high school left Tuesday morning May 8 for the United States Navy. The boys were Jack Frame, son of Mr. and Mrs. Drexel Frame of Glenville, and Leon Starkey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Starkey of Glenville.

The boys will report to Huntington for their physical examination and from there will be placed in their respective bases.

Both of the boys were active in high school sports and helped lead the Terrors to many victories.

STENNETT ANNOUNCES EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

Final exams will be given Wednesday and Thursday, May 16 and 17, of next week, says Principal Leroy Stennett. Students will not meet on the following Friday morning.

Students who have not been either absent or tardy will be excused with a "C" average. Those who have been absent no more than three times or tardy no more than three times will be exempted with a "B" average. Students missing more than three days or are tardy more than three times must have an "A" average to be exempted from tests.

This does not include seniors who helped with the production of the senior play. Those seniors will be exempted from tests with a 70% average, says Mr. Stennett.

get by with."

The teachers also have summer plans and here's what a few of them are planning to do.

Mr. Stennett: "I will be teaching at Glenville state college the first term, also will be director of the summer training school held at Glenville and then attend the University of Virginia."

Mrs. Hickman and Mrs. Murphy: "Will attend school at Morgantown."

Mr. Wolfe: "Will work in the License Bureau at Charleston and the last of the summer will attend college at Glenville state or at Morgantown."

Miss Woodford: "Will teach English for six weeks in the Summer Training school held at Glenville."
